I am a clinical registered counsellor since 2009. I hold an MA in Counselling Psychology degree from Trinity Western University (2009) and a Doctoral degree in Human Development, Learning, and Culture from the University of British Columbia (2018).

My clinical expertise includes working with children, youth, and adults diagnosed with mental illness, learning disabilities, and cognitive and developmental delays and is focused on assessment, evaluation, development and implementation of treatment plans. I provide supervision to students in the MA in Counselling Psychology programs and to the Registered Clinical Counsellors working at a residential addiction recovery center.

To improve my clinical expertise and supervisory skills, I receive ongoing supervision from a registered psychologist and engage in peer supervision and consultation. I continue to engage in educational opportunities to build my expertise as a supervisor and a clinician.

I have several years of university teaching experience as an Assistant Professor and a Sessional instructor in the faculty of Education and Psychology at UBC and TWU.

I have worked with diverse populations based on their cultural backgrounds, gender identity, age, dis/ability, religion and spirituality, race and ethnicity, language and family structure. As a supervisor and an educator, I strive to create an atmosphere of trust and respect with my supervisees that provides opportunities for growth and development. Everyone's experience and knowledge can contribute to building a rich teaching and learning environment, deepen the inquiry, and build professional relationships based on support, care and compassion.

I offer clinical supervision, clinical consultation, and group supervision.
