Dr Anna Dos Santos has been providing clinical supervision and group supervision for community agencies, individual clinicians, and interns from most universities in Canada. Trained both as a family -and an art therapist, she specialized in trauma work. Her doctorate studies included clinical supervision and phenomenological art therapy. Anna is somatically informed. Her creative clinical supervision style is committed to the essential concepts and values of systemic, relational, and collaborative philosophies, which fundamentally informs the practice and supervision of most clinical-, and marriage and family therapy. When needed, she incorporates principles from Feminist and Phenomenological Art Therapy.
