Hannah McCormack has been serving children, youth and their families in counselling roles since 2007. Hannah has worked in independent schools as a school counsellor, including Fraser Academy (2010-2019) and Brockton World IB School since 2019. Her main supervision focus has been school based counselling and she has formally supervised several practicum students in this area from UBC, Yorkville and CityU. Hannah has also worked in private practice offering both socio-emotional and academic counselling. Hannah has a MA in Counselling Psychology from Yorkville University, a Diploma of Professional Counselling from the Vancouver College of Counsellor Training, and a BA from the University of British Columbia. She belongs to the BCACC, CPCA and holds a non-expiring Independent School Teaching Certificate. She has completed Clinical Supervision Level 1 through the Psychologists' Association of Alberta. Hannah is a proud resident of North Vancouver and is the mother of twin boys.
