

Cameron Gibson RCC-ACS

My focus for clinical supervision is in private practice, and my goal is to provide tools and advice that are practical and actionable, so the Counsellors I work with can apply these concepts directly to their clinical cases and in their businesses. Having found success in private practice I am excited to share my experience and passion in helping others grow their skill set across multiple areas.

I was lucky enough to benefit from an incredible supervisor and mentor early in my career. With that support I am proud to have built a group practice, clinical team, and environment that is a culture for learning, inclusion and growth. I provide clinical supervision to Counsellor's working with male clients that struggle with Anxiety, Depression, OCD, and Trauma, as well as specializing in the integration of Coaching practices into the clinical process.
