

Course Grids Reference List

August 31, 2026

Course Grids Reference List

Contents (click on your program to jump there)

Adler University	3
Master of Arts Counselling Psychology & Master of Counselling Psychology	3
Master of Art Counselling Psychology & Master of Counselling Psychology: School & Youth Concentration	4
Athabasca University	5
Master of Counselling & Master of Counselling Psychology	5
City University	6
Master of Counselling	6
Master of Education in School Counselling	7
Gonzaga	8
Master of Counselling	8
Simon Fraser University	9
Master of Arts in Counselling Psychology	9
Master of Education in Counselling Psychology	10
Trinity Western University	11
Master of Arts in Counselling Psychology	11
Master of Christian Studies in Marriage & Family Therapy	12
University of Northern BC	13
Master of Education in Counselling	13
University of Victoria	14
Master of Arts in Counselling Psychology	14
Yorkville University	15
Master of Arts in Counselling Psychology	15

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

Adler University

Master of Arts Counselling Psychology & Master of Counselling Psychology

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course(s) Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	MACP 647: Biopsychosocial Bases of Health And Dysfunction
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	MACP 520: Theories of Psychotherapy
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	MACP 337: Group Psychotherapy
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	MACP 663: Effective Couple and Family Therapy
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	MACP 495: Research in Counselling Psychology
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice . The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	MACP 505: Ethical Practice in Counselling Psychology

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

Master of Art Counselling Psychology & Master of Counselling Psychology: School & Youth Concentration

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course(s) Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	MACP 647: Biopsychosocial Bases of Health And Dysfunction MSYC 583: Child Development and Counselling MSYC 584: Adolescent Development and Counselling
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	MACP 520: Theories of Psychotherapy
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	MACP 337: Group Psychotherapy
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	MACP 663: Effective Couple and Family Therapy
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	MACP 495: Research in Counselling Psychology
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice . The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	MACP 505: Ethical Practice in Counselling Psychology

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

Athabasca University

Master of Counselling & Master of Counselling Psychology

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	GCAP 634: Assessment Processes GCAP 648: Counselling Children and Adolescents from a Developmental Perspective GCAP 654: Family Therapy – Theory and Practice
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	GCAP 631: Models of Counselling and Client Change GCAP 634: Assessment Processes GCAP 648: Counselling Children and Adolescents from a Developmental Perspective GCAP 654: Family Therapy – Theory and Practice
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	GCAP 672: Group Counselling and Process Skills
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	GCAP 654: Family Therapy – Theory and Practice
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	GCAP 691: Methods of Inquiry
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice . The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	GCAP 632: Professional Ethics GCAP 634: Assessment Processes GCAP 648: Counselling Children and Adolescents from a Developmental Perspective GCAP 654: Family Therapy – Theory and Practice

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

City University

Master of Counselling

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	CPC 524: Psychopathology and Psychopharmacology CPC 600: Child and Adolescent Counselling CPC 604: Psychology of Aging
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	CPC 526: Counselling Psychology Theory
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	CPC 527: Group Counselling Psychology
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	CPC 512: Family Systems Therapy
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	CPC 514: Research Methods and Statistics CPC 680: Capstone Research Project
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice . The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	CPC 510: Professional Ethics and Law CPC 651: Practicum I/II/III

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

Master of Education in School Counselling

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	EGC 533: Child and Adolescent Growth and Development EGC 539: Mental Health Issues in Schools EGC 542: Assessment and Evaluation in Counselling
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	EGC 530: Individual Counselling Theory and Practice
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	EGC 536: Group Counselling Theory and Practice
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	ECC 648: Family Systems Theory and Practice ECC 515: Family Systems and Conflict Management
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	ECC 501: Introduction to Research Skills ECC 512: Research Methods for School Counsellors EGC 640: Project in School Counselling ECC 511: Research Methods in Education
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice . The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	ECC 520: Ethical and Legal Issues in School Counselling ECC 513: Ethics and Law for School-based Practice

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

Gonzaga

Master of Counselling

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	EDCE 616: Psychopathology and Psychopharmacology EDCE 567: Career Development and Assessment in Counselling EDCE 584: Counselling across the Life Span
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	EDCE 640: Counselling Theories EDCE 688: Advanced Theories and Professional Seminar
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	EDCE 658: Group Process and Facilitation
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	EDCE 590: Marriage and Family Counselling
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	EDCE 698: Research and Statistics
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice. The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	EDCE 558: Canadian Counselling Issues and Ethics

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

Simon Fraser University

Master of Arts in Counselling Psychology

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	EDUC 877: School and Youth Counselling
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	EDUC 870: Theories of Counselling
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	EDUC 878: Group Counselling
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	EDUC 871: Family Counselling
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	EDUC 863: Quantitative Methods in Educational Research EDUC 864: Research Designs in Education EDUC 866: Qualitative Methods in Educational Research
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice . The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	EDUC 872: Ethics in Counselling Psychology

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

Master of Education in Counselling Psychology

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	Unknown: Please check with your school
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	EDUC 870: Theories of Counselling
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	EDUC 878: Group Counselling
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	EDUC 871: Family Counselling
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	EDUC 864: Research Designs in Education
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice . The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	EDUC 872: Ethics in Counselling Psychology

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

Trinity Western University

Master of Arts in Counselling Psychology

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	CPSY 607: Psychopathology CPSY 613: Crisis Counselling
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	CPSY 506: Theories of Counselling
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	CPSY 510: Group Counselling
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	CPSY 508: Family and Community Systems CPSY 615: Child and Youth Counselling CPSY 616: Systematic Therapy with Couples, Families and Aging Adults
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	CPSY 502: Research Design CPSY 517: Advanced Data Analysis CPSY 504: Evaluating Statistics & Research
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice . The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	609: Seminar on Ethical Integration

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

Master of Christian Studies in Marriage & Family Therapy

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	CMFT 580: Psychopathology CMFT 683: Lifespan Development: Attachment Across the Lifespan
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	CMFT 552: Theories in Marriage & Family Therapy
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	CMFT 661: Group Counselling
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	CMFT 660: MFT I Assessment & Systemic Interventions CMFT 670: MFT II Human Sexuality and Advanced Topics in Marriage and Family Therapy
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	CMFT 582: Research Design and Evidence-Based Practice in Marriage & Family Therapy
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice . The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	CMFT 664: Ethics and Professional Issues in Marriage & Family Therapy

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

University of Northern BC

Master of Education in Counselling

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course(s) Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	Educ 716-3: Clinical Counselling
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	Educ 711-3: Counselling Theories
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	Educ 714-3: Group Counselling
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	Educ 618-3: Family Counselling
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	Educ 601-3: Research Methods
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice . The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	Educ 717-3: Ethics in Counselling

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

University of Victoria

Master of Arts in Counselling Psychology

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	ED-D569: Developmental Psychopathology and Disorders ED-D506A: Cognitive Development ED-D506B: Social and Emotional Development ED-D505: Advanced Concepts in Human Development
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	ED-D518: Advanced Seminar in Theories of Counselling Psychology
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	ED-D519L: Group Counselling
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	ED-D521: Developmental Issues in Family Counselling
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	ED-D561A: Methods in Educational Research ED-D563: Qualitative Research Methods
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice . The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	ED-D519C: Ethics and Legal Issues in Counselling

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.

Course Grids Reference List

Yorkville University

Master of Arts in Counselling Psychology

BCACC Core Topic Area	University Course Meeting BCACC Registration Requirements
Developmental Psychology OR Psychopathology A course that covers psychological development throughout the lifespan or psychopathology.	PSYC 6104 A: Biopsychosocial Approach to Counselling PSYC 6333: Psychopathology for Counsellors
Counselling Theories OR Personality Theories A survey course of counselling theories, a course covering a specific therapeutic approach, or a course on the topic of personality theory.	PSYC 6153: Counselling Methodologies - Psychodynamic and Humanistic Modalities PSYC 6163: Counselling Methodologies - Behavioural and Cognitive Modalities
Group Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in group counselling. Options including student role play preferred.	PSYC 6223: Group Counselling
Family Therapy Theory & Practice A course focused solely on theory and practice in one or more modalities in family counselling. Areas of focus may include one or more family therapy theories (e.g. Satir, Emotionally Focused Family Therapy, Milan, Strategic, Bowenian, Narrative, etc.) Options including student role play preferred.	PSYC 6263: Couples and Family Systems
Basic Research Design A course which includes one or more of the following: Statistical methods and analysis, qualitative and quantitative research methods and design, and/or interpretation and critique of research literature.	PSYC 6213: Research Methodology
Professional Ethics in Counselling/Psychotherapy A course focused on codes of ethics, practice standards and guidelines, professional issues, and ethical decision-making models as applied to ethical dilemmas and case studies in counselling practice . The course should ideally include legal requirements and their impact on professional practice.	PSYC 6203: Ethical Standards for Mental Health Service Providers

Note: BCACC does not conduct course recognition. These courses were shared by your school as matching BCACC's Core Topic Area descriptions. Alternative courses may be taken – Connect with your school to determine whether an alternative course meets BCACC's core topic area descriptions.