I am a Registered Clinical Counsellor and Approved Clinical Supervisor with more than 30 years of experience in counselling, assessment, clinical leadership, and supervision. While I have worked with children, youth, adults, and families across diverse settings, my greatest passion is supporting the growth and development of practitioners.

For more than 15 years, I have provided clinical supervision and consultation to counsellors, social workers, and multidisciplinary professionals. I view supervision as a collaborative, reflective, and relational process that strengthens clinical competence, self-awareness, confidence, and professional authenticity. I believe effective supervision creates opportunities for critical reflection, ethical inquiry, professional growth, and sustainable practice.

My approach is grounded in curiosity, respect, and the belief that learning occurs within safe and trusting relationships. I strive to create a supervision environment where practitioners feel supported, challenged, and encouraged to develop confidence in their clinical judgment while remaining reflective, accountable, and responsive to those they serve.

I have specialized training in Decolonizing Supervision and am certified in Critical Incident Stress Management (CISM). My work is informed by Indigenous worldviews that emphasize relationship, responsibility, connection, and balance, fostering culturally responsive and relational practice.

From an integrative approach, which includes Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, Narrative Therapy, Dialectical Behavior Therapy, Solution-Focused Therapy, Family Systems Therapy, and Person-Centered Practice, I believe meaningful change occurs through authentic connection, collaboration, and respect for people's strengths and lived experiences.
